FOUR CENTS

NAZI LINES CRACKED IN DRIVE FOR ROME

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

During the past few days I have been in the midst of one of the most gripping and fiendish crimes ever committed in Ohio, and have answered at least 10,000 questions regarding the killing of the McCoy family.

These questions poured in from all sides and every time I have been on the street one to a score of persons have demonstrated the deep interest of the public in general by asking the latest news in the shocking crime.

Few of you folks have seen the crime as I have. Reaching the scene a few minutes after Sheriff W. H. Icenhower and Deputy Ott Reno arrived in the brilliant sunlight of Thanksgiving morning, the whole dark tragedy in all its gruesome horror was told in the blood-covered bodies of one of the county's most highly respected and best known families.

From the moment I reached the scene there has been little relaxation and in addition to telling the story through the columns of the Record-Herald and the Associated Press, I have answered numbers of inquiries from a large portion of the United States, including some of the largest newspapers in the nation.

While you may not know it, some of the largest newspapers in Ohio brushed the war headlines from the top of the first page and placed banner headlines of the unusual crime. Many of the newspapers in the larger cities in America gave it second place only to the war and for several days it has held front page in newspapers generally, as millions of people have grasped eagerly for all details and all available pictures bearing on the crime.

But the "big story" and all of its ramifications and the long hours of "keeping on the job" are part of the daily life of a newspaper man who seeks to serve his readers.

I am firmly convinced that apprehension of the murderer is not far distant and a real surprise is at hand.

Union Township trustee, William Rodgers, was driving along the road near this city one day last week, and suddenly a large Tennessee grasshopper, measuring over three inches in length, arose from the roadside and flew for some distance before alighting.

Bill thinks it's late for grasshoppers, and I believe he is perfectly right. How that big grasshopper survived the heavy freezes and then came to life is just one of those mysteries of the insect world.

However, any month in the winter, on warm days, one may walk through meadows and tiny grasshoppers (nymphs) may be seen leaping aside. Seems like the grasshopper family is a hardy one.

VETERAN CONFESSES HE STRANGLED GIRL

Discharged After Battle of Midway for Nervousness

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Irvin McCafferty Cummins, 20, is held in the Jefferson Parish jail today, booked on a charge of murdering in connection with the strangling Sunday night of a 17-year-old high school girl.

The girl, Joan Lewis, met her death in the youth's parked car in a suburban district of New Orleans, assistant district attorney, Ernest M. Conzelmann said, adding Cummins told him "I didn't realize what had happened until I saw blood on her clothes."

"We were in love, and I guess I just lost my head," the attorney quoted Cummins, son of a Tulane University professor, as saying. Cummins saw service with the United States Navy in the battle of Midway and later was given a medical discharge following a nervous breakdown.

FRYING PAN INTO FIRE

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A 20-year-old motorist placed on probation early this year for three years after his car killed a six-year-old schoolboy, was arrested again Monday after his car hit and critically injured another six-year-old school boy.

NEW COAL ROW AND PEACE TALK STIR CONGRESS

Scrap Over Tax Bill Gets No Place and Compromise On Subsidy Plan Offered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—There was talk of peace in Washington today, more than there has been in a long time, mostly on the grim and cagey side.

Much of it stemmed from reports President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and perhaps Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek already are conferring or soon will.

And the War Production Board (WPB) is being reorganized to meet the quick changes that appear to be expected when the war reaches its climatic stage.

However, a group of senators in a position to know something about the progress of the fighting, say it will be surprising if the Germans are beaten before next summer. They say there is bound to be tough land fighting before the Nazis are cleaned up. Their views were tempered somewhat by the expressed belief of Senator Austin (R-Vt.), that credence may be lent reports the Germans already may have breached peace terms. Austin says he believes the war will end suddenly, the minute the German people become convinced they are beaten.

New Mine Crisis Looms
Higher labor costs have sent the price ceiling on soft coal up an average of 17 cents a ton. The Office of Price Administration formally boosted the ceilings, not enough, however, to satisfy some of the operators and the United Mine Workers (UMW) who have argued the increase still will not carry the load of $1.50 a day wage raises.

A quick in the agreement between Interior Secretary Ickes and John L. Lewis—regarded in some quarters as an underlying fiction—came to the fore today on the basis of data prepared by the Solid Fuels Administration.

It explains in part why coal prices are going up, even though the War Labor Board says it did not approve a wage increase. It indicates, too, why another

ALLIED CONFERENCE TO BE IN IRAN, TIP

First Phase, With Stalin Missing, in Africa

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Reuters, the British news agency, today received a dispatch dated Lisbon which said "it is known here definitely" that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and President Chiang Kai-Shek have completed a long conference in Cairo and are now en route to Iran (Persia) to meet Premier Stalin.

An Associated Press dispatch from London said this Reuter dispatch was not distributed by Reuters in Britain. However, it was transmitted through London and reached New York by normal radio transmission.

HIGHER FARM PRICES WANTED BY GRANGE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Collapse of the government's price control system unless farmers are granted "a higher return" for their products was predicted last night by Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange.

"There will be a greatly shortened food supply, a widened black market and complete collapse of the price control system unless farmers are allowed by the government to produce at a fair price," Goss told the Interstate Milk Producers' Cooperative at an annual dinner.

The Grange leader said subsidies were inflationary and did not increase production.

Sheriff Says He Is 'More Convinced Than Ever' Mystery Near Solution As He Leaves Office - - Prosecutor Out of City Making Investigation Expected To Dovetail With Findings of Sheriff

There was every indication Tuesday afternoon that solution of the triple murder of Elmer McCoy, his wife and daughter Thanksgiving eve might come at any time during the next 24 hours, and that officials conducting the investigation were proceeding under the belief that the family was wiped out in a diabolical plot and not for revenge.

Whether the $2,000 reward offered Monday by the county commissioners, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer or slayers, had uncovered any additional evidence, was not disclosed, but it was indicated that Sheriff W. H. Icenhower and Prosecutor John B. Hill were rapidly narrowing the list of those under suspicion and might "break" the case within a day or so.

Apparently officials had discarded the theory that revenge might have been the motive for the triple murder that shocked the entire county. Rumors afloat Tuesday afternoon indicated that events were moving swiftly and that the killer might be arrested here or elsewhere at any time.

Early belief had been expressed that the killer would not be found in Fayette County.

Sheriff Icenhower, seen at his office for a moment Tuesday afternoon would not make a statement other than to say that he was convinced the mystery would be solved within a reasonable length of time.

The sheriff declined to make a statement as to who, if anyone, was being questioned, but it was understood that no arrests have been made.

Simultaneously with Icenhower's comment of confidence, it was learned that Prosecutor Hill left here on a special mission. It was indicated unofficially the trip's results would dovetail eventually with the sheriff's investigation.

Killer Moved Body

Acting Coroner Dr. E. H. McDonald, who had charge of the inquiry into the triple murder when the bodies were discovered Thanksgiving morning, is convinced, along with some other officials that it was the killer and not the daughter, who turned Mrs. McCoy's body over on the screen.

HOME OR BERLIN?

Fighting Men Would Take Trip Back, They Hint

NAPLES, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A recent editorial in the service newspaper, Stars and Stripes, which asserted that American soldiers wanted to see Berlin before they saw their home towns again, has drawn a flurry of angry correspondence from combat troops, one of whom inquired snappily, "Who in hell elected you to voice the opinion of the veteran?"

The editorial discussed the question of rotation of American combat troops and home leave for men who have been in action, first brought up by Senate subcommittee which visited the Mediterranean theater several months ago. The letters received from soldiers in response to the editorial indicated the writers felt the troops should have furloughs in America after serving in the line for a certain period.

GOV. BRICKER HAS FLU

COLUMBUS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Gov. and Mrs. John W. Bricker both are ill at home with intestinal flu, the Governor's office said today, but their conditions are good. The Governor has not been in his office since Saturday.

NINE CRIPPLED CHILDREN INJURED IN BUS CRASH

TOLEDO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Nine crippled children were injured, three seriously, when a bus of the Feibach School for Crippled Children was struck by an automobile today and hurled against a utility pole. Nine other handicapped children, being taken to school, were shaken but uninjured. The driver of the automobile, Norman Donbrosky of this city, was cited by police on reckless driving charges.

ARMY CAPTAIN IN ITALY CALLED FOR INDUCTION

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Henry Linnaugh, 36, regretted he was unable to appear before his draft board for a preliminary medical examination.

Linnaugh, just classified I-A, was busy elsewhere—as an army captain in Italy.

"Must have been some mistake," said the draft board chairman. Linnaugh has been overseas 18 months.

Hungry Ohio Marine Kills Jap So Crew Can Get To Hot Supper

(Editor's Note: The following story was written by Sergeant Ben Wahman of Richmond, Virginia, a Marine Corps combat correspondent, and distributed by The Associated Press.)

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH WEST PACIFIC—(Delayed)—Marine Pfc. William R. White of East Springfield, Ohio, who weighs 240 pounds and takes a lot of feeding recently killed a Jap strictly from hunger.

On Arundel Island, the pangs of hunger drove him to offer his bulk as a target for a well-concealed Jap sniper, whose fire threatened to keep him and his tank outfit buddies from the chow line.

Returning from a mission, the tank crew, led by Trencherman White, had just begun a dash for the galley when sniper fire sent them to cover. Mingled with the well-directed shots was the tantalizing aroma of the hot evening meal. They could see the food, but they couldn't see the sniper.

From White's viewpoint, to go without chow was unthinkable.

Rising to full length, he calmly wagged his fingers in the general direction of the enemy. The Jap fired and missed. White emptied his pistol at the sound, but the range was too great. The sniper fired again.

Slithering back to the tank, White obtained a Tommy gun. Then he stood up and repeated his gesture. The Jap's shot went wild, but White's return fire didn't. Five slugs did for the Jap.

OHIOANS GET BONUS WITH LIQUOR AGAIN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Ohioans will get a bonus along with their regular rationed liquor allotment in December as in the previous four ration periods, Liquor Director Don Fisher said today.

However, the spirits to be distributed will vary from the past. The regular allotment will be composed of one quart, fifth or two pints of whiskey or brandy, Gin, which formerly had been on the regular list, was transferred to the bonus, along with rum and cordial. Brandy likewise traded places.

Fisher also said the new period, starting tomorrow, would extend through January 15 rather than end at the close of the month, saving possibly one-third the amount of liquor ordinarily consumed in a normal period.

Order for $25,000 Worth of Bonds Gets $2,500,000

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Mark Nolan, president of the Keystone Box Company, wanted to buy some War Bonds but he hadn't planned on becoming a millionaire.

Nolan sent a check to purchase five $5,000 bonds. In return, he received five $500,000 bonds.

Federal Reserve Bank officials explained a clerk had accidentally dipped into the stack of $500,000 bonds instead of the $5,000 ones in filling Nolan's order.

The bank quickly rectified the error when Nolan returned the $2,500,000.

LT. GEN. VANDERGRIFT MARINE COMMANDER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift today was appointed commandant of the Marine Corps, effective Jan. 1, in succession to Lt. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, retiring because of age.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Secretary of the Navy Knox at a Marine Corps headquarters press conference attended by Holcomb and Vandergrift.

Americans Have Secret Weapons; Hitler Threats Bring Disclosures

By TOM REEDY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Hitler's threat to use a secret "reprisal" weapon was answered by U. S. military spokesmen with these disclosures today:

1—The U. S. Army Air Force has learned how to hoist 75 mm cannon into the skies—a giant plane weapon so potent it already has sunk a Japanese destroyer single-handed.

2—The Navy has developed some ordnance sensations, one so amazing that a foreign scientist labeled it impossible.

The Army said its B-25 Mitchell medium bombers have been equipped with the 75's, first ever to carry such heavy firepower.

U. S. bombers have been using 37 mm guns, Russia has had some success with 40 mm. Fighter planes usually carry 20 mm. cannon.

The feat got its combat test in the South Atlantic. A B-25 so equipped smashed a Japanese air

REDS ADVANCING ON SIX FRONTS; GERMANS ON RUN

Japs Being Mopped Up in Pacific Islands While Air Power Dwindles

By RICHARD McMURRAY

The British Eighth Army broke into the main defenses of the German winter line in eastern Italy in an advance four miles north of the Sangro River, widened its bridgehead over the flooded stream to 12 miles and continued its advance today in a "colossal crack" at the eastern approaches to Rome.

The Allied communique said Gen. Montgomery had driven into high ground northwest of the Sangro after 36 hours of heavy fighting near the Adriatic.

The Fifth Army in western Italy advanced a mile north of Venafro through heavy artillery fire and captured Castelnuovo. The British offensive swept up Mezzagrona, three miles north of the Sangro and seven inland. Portions of the commanding Sangro ridge were seized.

Russians Advancing

The Russians drove within 12-mile artillery range of Zhitobin, a gateway to Minsk. A renewed drive in the Cherkassy area of the Dnieper bend advanced seven miles within nine of the rail junction of Smola.

British Mosquito bombers attacked western Germany and airfields in France and Holland without loss last night, following another daylight raid on Bremen by Flying Fortresses. At Bremen and in other sweeps, Allied planes destroyed 45 Nazi fighters at the cost of 13 big bombers and 18 fighters.

Japs Being Mopped Up

Air power that met no challenge in the skies paced Allied drives against the Japanese in New Guinea and the Solomons as American ground forces hunted down the last enemy stragglers on Tarawa in the Gilberts.

MOTHER OF KILLER SAYS HE IS INSANE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Ida Hagert, mother of 18-year-old Henry Hagert, says she thinks "he was insane" when James and Charles Collins were shot to death August 12.

A jury of five men and seven women heard the tearful woman testify yesterday she first believed her son insane when he "tore up our home" early in July.

Hagert is charged with killing the 13-year-old twins in a wooded section of suburban Bay Village after they hitchhiked a ride in his car.

Three alienists testified the youth, who was treated in the psychopathic ward at City Hospital last March, was insane. He pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

FRIDAY NAMED AIR WACS DAY BY EDWIN DUCEY

Recruiting Team Will Be at American Legion Home
All Day

An urgent call for cooperation of all citizens of Washington C. H. in the present drive for recruiting of Air WACS was made today by City Manager Edwin Ducey, who issued a proclamation setting aside next Friday as "Air-WAC Day" here.

"No finer gesture could be made by the Women of Washington C. H. to those boys from here who have been killed in action and to those boys who are now in the hands of the enemy, than to have Washington C. H. represented among the new Air-WACS who even now are serving beside the heroes of our Army Air Forces," stated Ducey, as he issued the proclamation.

Central event of the "Air WAC" day will be the visit to the city of an official Air WAC recruiting team which will be stationed at the American Legion building for the purpose of interviewing prospective candidates for enlistment.

Shown at the Fayette Theater this week is a trailer, showing stills of life of Air WACs at an army air base.

The Air WAC recruiting team is on tour of southern Ohio visiting key cities as a part of the national drive to enlist 70,000 Air WACs for service with the Air Forces.

Ducey's proclamation reads: WHEREAS, the Federal Government, through its military leaders, has declared the need of recruiting women into the Armed Forces, and

WHEREAS, the Army Air Force has seen fit to send a special recruiting team to this city for the purpose of accepting enlistments and distributing information as to enlistments in that branch of service, and

WHEREAS, the Army Air Force plan offers the women of this city, interested in serving their country, an opportunity to enlist into a branch of the armed service with a definite knowledge as to the duty they will perform, and

WHEREAS, patriotic-minded associations and citizens in the city are assisting in the recruiting program, and

WHEREAS, Friday, December 3, 1943, has been designated by the Army Air Force as the date of the visit of their recruiting team to the city, I hereby proclaim that Friday, December 3, 1943, shall be "Air WAC Day" in the City of Washington Court House.

Signed and sealed this 29th day of November, A. D. 1943.

AGED WOMAN DIES; HAS 150 SURVIVORS

Mrs. Missouri Belle Bush
Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Missouri Belle Bush, 86, died Monday at 9 A. M. at her home near Cooks Station, following a lengthy illness, and she is survived by 150 descendants.

Six sons and six daughters and a sister survive.

There are eight great, great grandchildren included among the survivors.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 P. M. at the E. T. Snyder Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling, and burial will be made at Mt. Sterling.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Robert Craig is improving after a major operation in White Cross Hospital Sunday.

Mr. William Wittridge is improving slowly after a stroke suffered a week ago at his home in Mt. Sterling.

Mrs. Pauline Browning is improving now after three heart attacks which have confined her to her home since October.

Earl West is improving after an amputation of his left hand in White Cross Hospital, Columbus. He is still in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Oril Wyatt are announcing the birth of a son last Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Van Pelt. The baby has been named Ronald David.

Mrs. Myrtle Happenny was removed from her home on Sixth Street to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, for an appendectomy Monday afternoon. The trip was made in the Kiever ambulance.

Mrs. Clara Dean is now the assistant matron of the Masonic Children's Home in Springfield. She will assume her duties there December 13 after a two week's vacation here. Mrs. Dean was formerly a waitress at Bob's Dry Cleaning shop here.

PLANS FOR WAR RELIEF ALL SET FOR START OF WORK AHEAD OF TIME

crimination among those who receive them, whether for race, creed, color or political belief.

2. Nations who have not been invaded will foot the bill, but those European nations with foreign exchange balances, or with income producing colonies, will pay for all the relief given them.

3. The Axis countries—Germany and her satellites—will be expected to pay not only for relief work done in their areas, but nations which they have looted will be permitted to search their caches for treasures removed.

4. UNRRA can do nothing inside any country without the consent of the country and all the war-weary people of Europe must get absolutely fair treatment during the relief period, whether their governments have gold balances to expend, or not.

5. Through the work of one committee it was decided UNRRA must fit into the general picture of a world at war, rather than exist as an independent agency, due to the fact UNRRA's operations are expected to start in Europe before the war ends in the Far East.

6. The countries which will foot the bill are expected to contribute one percent of the national income, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943. The formula makes the United States contribution $1,350,000,000, a sum which, it is expected, will be requested in partial payments from the United States treasury, spaced over two years.

ed-in porch after she had been riddled with 32 calibre bullets.

Mildred had no blood on her hands when found, Dr. McDonald recalled, and if she had moved the body of her mother, her hands would have shown blood, he believes.

Not only had Mrs. McCoy's body been turned over but it had been partly turned around.

Belief has been advanced by some officials that some one well known to the family, and regarded as a friend, committed the crime, not for revenge, after first snipping the telephone wires with a pair of scissors while members of the family were not looking.

That the man accompanied McCoy to the barn and possibly might have had him measuring the belt of the feed grinder, holding a flashlight for him, and then deliberately shot him down at close range, is part of the theory.

McCoy fell with his head on the pulley of the grinder and with one knee between the grinder and the wall. He still grasped the steel measuring tape.

Reconstructing the crime, the

CHRISTMAS CLUBS ARE WAR CASUALTY

Another casualty of war is the Christmas Club, longtime stand-by for painless saving to buy Christmas gifts.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association, on West Court Street, was the only organization in the county to sponsor a Christmas club in 1943—and its officers plan to discontinue it next year. R. B. Sharp, secretary of the loan association, reports that $29,880.43 in Christmas Club money will be distributed by his firm this year.

Justifying the passing of the Christmas Club plan, most banks and loan associations say that with shortage of help, the increased bookkeeping required "just doesn't pay us."

So the estimated 1,192 people who will split the $29,880.43 in Christmas Club money may be the last to reap benefits of the savings plan for some time—at least until the war is over.

belief is expressed that the killer then went to the house, awaited for Mrs. McCoy to step out the kitchen door, and that the first shot fired missed her and passed into a door casing about even with her head, or a little above it.

This bullet was fired from near the floor.

Thirteen wounds Dr. McDonald said three of the bullet wounds inflicted upon Mrs. McCoy were powder-burned, showing the gun at extremely close range, and that one of the wounds in the abdomen, probably the first one that struck her, showed the gun to have been against her body.

A long wound over the right eye and extending two inches back, had been fired a few inches from her head. A second wound, a few inches below the heart, showed powder burns.

In all there were thirteen wounds, made by six or seven bullets. In addition to these there was a second bullet probably through the lower part of her heart and a second one in the left side of the abdomen. One bullet wound was above the right ear, one behind the left ear, another in front of the left ear, one through the lower left jaw which had shattered the jaw, and one through the throat. The index finger of her right hand had been shot half off. One bullet apparently came out over her left hip and another bullet was found embedded just under the skin of her right hip where it had lodged after passing through her body. The killer sought to kill her.

quickly to stop her cries and not for revenge, it is now believed by some.

In addition to having been turned over from her left side to the right, the body had been turned partly around.

Three bullet holes through the porch floor were made by bullets that had passed through her head, it is believed. These bullets were in nearly a straight line, with two of them being two inches apart, and the third some 6 inches from the middle bullet. They had been fired as the killer stood over her body and while he was near the west wall of the porch.

Dr. McDonald said the wounds of the father and daughter were almost identical as to where the bullet entered at the base of the skull just above the hairline at the back of the head, the bullet killing McCoy passing out his right nostril and the one killing Mildred lodging just under the skin of the right temple.

closed in on Bonga, Japanese outpost in the New Guinea jungle northeast of Sattelberg which the Allies captured November 26. The Australians used tanks as well in the push to iron out a bulge in Allied lines.

Further up the northeast coast of New Guinea, big Liberators attacked Wewak with 94 tons of bombs, and the absence of enemy interception puzzled air officers.

At last reports, they said the Japanese had more than 50 fighters in the Wewak area.

Jap Planes Scarce
Nor did a single Japanese fighter oppose nearly 100 American dive bombers and torpedo bombers attacking enemy installations on the south shore of Empress Augusta Bay in support of American forces on Bougainville. Anti-aircraft fire forced down one fighter but the pilot was saved.

Liberators damaged one warship in an attack on two destroyers and a freighter off the north coast of New Britain, while other bombers and fighters strafed and sank barges along the coasts of Bougainville and New Guinea.

The Navy Department announced in Washington that islands in the Gilberts are "being developed according to plan," and that a few enemy stragglers remain in the northern end of Tarawa atoll.

While Montgomery was grinding the German line to bits in eastern Italy, Allied planes bombed Sarajevo in Yugoslavia. Other communications in that country and shipping off Albania also were attacked. Heavy bombers struck north of Rome at the Grosseto airbase and the railway yards at Giullanova. Russian armies were battering ahead on six fronts, three in White Russia and three in the Ukraine. The great German counterattack on the western periphery of the Kiev bulge appeared to be petering out and radio Moscow said the striking power of eight Nazi armored divisions in that critical sector had been dulled.

Forty villages fell south of Zhlobin, 125 miles short of the White Russian capital of Minsk. Around 3,500 Nazis died. Advances were made in the Pripiet Berezina river valleys west of the Dnieper. Other columns drove forward southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and Kremenchug.

Ordnance officers of the Aberdeen proving ground in Maryland said captured German materiel showed deteriorating quality and credited Allied bombing raids on Nazi industrial centers. A lesser degree of deterioration was noted in Japanese weapons and this was attributed to attrition levied by our navy and air force on the enemy's dwindling shipping. The officers said that generally in every case American weapons equaled or surpassed those of the foe.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There is a significant relationship, it seems to me, between the unexplained publication of Hitler's nine-day-old scare-talk to 2,000 young Nazi officers and the current rumors in London that Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin are about to issue a world-rocking declaration which may involve a demand for Germany's surrender.

The Fuehrer's address bears the earmarks of being an attempt to whip his followers into line with the tale that they are doomed if they capitulate to the Allies. His talk was made just before the Royal Air Force began its all-out destruction of Berlin, and Propaganda Minister Joe Goebbels probably thought the terrors of the bombardment would lend point to his master's highly cynical mood. Also, Berlin insists that the Big Three are already meeting in Cairo.

One point Hitler made was that "the nation which loses this war will cease to exist."

That certainly is true, and it has an ominous sound, especially when the bare fact is stated without explanation,—a shrewd ruse which Hitler appears to have employed. The Third Reich is due to disappear. The German nation politic will be wiped out—for a fresh start.

That's far from being as harsh as it looks at first glance, however. What it really means is that Hitler's own goose is cooked and that his regime is to be destroyed. The Allies have no intention of hamstringing the German race. The German people will be permitted to create a new government and to work out their own destiny—provided they keep to the straight and narrow path and avoid further entanglements with Nazism and Prussian militarism.

Hitler himself has had no intention of according conquered nations any such privileges. The voice of Nazism long ago announced in no uncertain terms that the vanquished peoples were to be made to serve the master race. Their territories were to be absorbed by the Reich.

One of the most remarkable passages in the master gangster's address was this: "As so often in the past, so today providence will bestow no gifts on our nation in its struggle for freedom and its future."

Well, that's a hot one, especially coming from an anti-Christ. The Nazi chief certainly can't have any kick coming at getting no divine help, and to give him credit he apparently didn't complain. He not only has broken the laws of God but has disavowed providence, and literally has set himself up as a Messiah for the German people to worship. That sounds fantastic, but it's a fact.

Under those circumstances you wouldn't think Herr Hitler could expect much help from heaven. Still, that's a question this column approaches with great diffidence. I can only fall back on boyhood teaching of the scotch porridge type, which was that right would win in the long run. That's the reason the Fuehrer is losing this war, and it's the reason even his Allies won't stick with him—he hasn't given them a righteous cause for which to fight. Brigandage is no inspiration for civilized peoples.

Finally Hitler tried to throw fear of Russia into his hearers. He declared that if the Allies won "then the barbarities of the steppes would sweep across the continent and destroy it as the base and source of human culture."

The Nazi-beater really has something there—provided we eliminate the bitter and unjustifiable talk of barbarities and destruction of culture, and consider the basic thought which he has in mind, namely that Russia is going to dominate the European continent after the war. This column has been saying that for months, and I could write you a book on the politico-economic-military aspects of the situation to prove it.

What Hitler recognizes—and it means his personal doom—is that a vast new power is being unleashed in Russia. The Soviet has made it clear, however, that it has no desire to see Germany destroyed, although the Nazi chief and his regime must go.

ENGINEER MEETS DEATH IN FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK

TROY, Nov. 30—(AP)—A head-on collision of two big four freight trains Sunday killed Engineer Vernon McCormack, 51, of Indianapolis and seriously injured fireman Hansford Covert, 51, of Indianapolis, Sunday.

The crash at Ludlow Falls west of Troy derailed 11 cars and two locomotives. It was the third freight wreck there in five months.

Public Is Concerned
There is growing concern among many Fayette County citizens in their anxiety for an early solution to the mysterious and shocking tragedy which completely blotted out the Elmer McCoy family on Thanksgiving eve at their farm home a few miles north of this city.
While there are hundreds of theories and alleged clues being freely discussed and much advice is being volunteered to the authorities in charge of the case, there has been nothing to indicate that there is any imminent solution to this baffling crime.
It is not surprising, in a case of this character, that there is some criticism regarding lack of results although naturally the authorities cannot take the public into their confidence as to all the steps that are being taken to locate and identify the killer or killers. However, it is to be hoped that those in charge of the case will leave nothing undone to solve the crime and bring to justice those responsible for it. It is inconceivable that an outrage of this kind shall remain indefinitely unexplained without every possible clue being followed and all possible angles of investigation being made, no matter how much the expense or what talent toward clearing up the mystery, is necessary.
The county commissioners have willingly come forward with their offer of a substantial reward and are showing an earnest desire to lend their help in clearing up the mystery. The immediate surviving relatives here have indicated their willingness to cooperate in every possible way in their anxiety for a solution and the sheriff and county prosecutor have been spending all available time and effort to "break" the case. The answer may come soon—or it may never come. But many farm families, especially in the neighborhood of the scene of the tragedy, will rest much easier if the perpetrator of the foul deed is found soon.

German People Worried
Less than three years ago the German bombardment of London reached its peak, and historic buildings wrecked included the Guildhall; the churches of St. Bride's and St. Stephens; and Greyfriars. The Old Bailey Central Criminal Court was damaged, Buckingham palace was hit, and the roof was blown from the home of Dr. Samuel Johnson in Gough-sq. off Fleet-st. Fires raged, but the citizens shouted defiance at the roaring planes.
This was early in the war, Britishers had gone through only one winter, and vast supplies were beginning to pour across the sea from the United States. It was a dark picture, nevertheless.

How much darker must be the picture in smoldering Berlin today, after consecutive assaults. And how vivid must be the recollection by Germans of their leaders' plan to wreck British industrial centers and ports, then to concentrate on shore defenses in preparation for a mighty assault.
Then must not the Germans realize that with great hordes of planes ready and loaded, an assault on shore defenses must be the next step of the United Nations, followed by invasion? And where Britain had a tight little isle to defend, Germany must await a blow through Norway, Holland, France, Italy or the Balkans. Add to this the fact that vast supplies are not rolling across the sea to them, and imagine the thoughts in the minds of civilians today.
Destruction of Berlin will not end Hitler's resistance, for he personally has nothing to gain by the end of war. But if our own boys are depressed when letters fail to arrive from home, or when they carry sad news, the German soldiers are bound to catch the feeling of hopelessness from their folks at home. The shoe is on the other foot, and it pinches.

Bomber Crews Now Rehearse on Ground
By LOUIS VAN DYCK
AN EASTERN U. S. AIR BASE—The stars shine brightly in the dome overhead and the dials on our instrument panel reflect the glow of the cabin's lights. Our altimeter shows 10,000 feet.
Our navigator is shooting stars now with his sextant. His voice comes in over the intercommunicating phone. He finds we are 15 miles north of the course briefed for us before the start of the flight.
Using the radio, our radio-man picks up a couple of enemy stations which have not yet heard of our coming and are still on the air. With this instrument he gives the navigator another location.
Now the blackness is lifting for it is nearly morning. Below us it is partly overcast and clouds are heavy.
It is full daylight as we approach our target.
"Right on the button," the navigator calls as he picks up the Elbe river and identifies the city of Wittenberg.
We sight Berlin ahead. The bombardier takes control, switches to the automatic pilot and releases the bomb load.
This Is No Dream
Back over our home field our mission accomplished, the pilot halts the machine. Our altimeter says 10,000 feet!
No, it hasn't been a dream. It has been a "flight" in a Link Celestial Navigation Trainer.
You've heard of the Link Trainer, but this one has been "hush hush" until now. It teaches all the techniques required of a bomber crew.

Let's take a look at it from the cockpit. The dome is built of wire mesh and steel with small light bulbs representing the stars ordinarily used by navigators.
The fuselage is perched atop a movable framework. The front cockpit is equipped for both the bombardier and navigator, with all necessary instruments.
Behind is a compartment for three men. The pilot, with his full panel of instruments and controls activated by vacuum and electricity, can make the machine turn, bank, climb or descend.
The instructor has controls which can toss the trainer around as in rough weather. The radio operator sits behind the instructor. He also has all the regular instruments of a combat plane.
Below is a screen on which is projected the terrain over which the trainer "flies."
Here it is possible to train for any one of those specific missions which have made the headlines this year without danger to the crew, without the risk of losing a bomber and with no waste of fuel.
The machine may be set with the stars in the actual position they will occupy in the sky at the time the real flight is made.
Below in the operator's booth, the master of our "universe" controls the movements of stars and earth; makes the weather and the wind velocity and forms the clouds.

The instructor can call to him to stop this "universe" at any time so that a problem may be discussed and some error of the crew rectified.
The machine moves with the clock so that the stars remain in their proper position for the assumed hour, night, month and year.
Navy Expert Planted Idea
Where did the idea for this complicated mechanism originate? I asked Edwin A. Link. The idea was planted in his mind, he says, by Commander P. H. V. Weems when he dropped into visit the retired naval officer and air navigation expert at Annapolis in 1938.
"If you could only do for navigation what you have done for instrument flying it would be a great aid," the commander told him.
They discussed the project, and Link hurried back to his plant at Binghamton, N. Y., to begin putting ideas on paper.
In England, Link found the British interested because the war clouds were hanging low and they foresaw the importance of night bombing and the necessity of training crews.
Link took a short course in bombing and celestial navigation, came home, assembled experienced engineers and went to work. The first machine was built under a British contract and took two years to complete.
The United States saw the value of such a trainer before Pearl Harbor and before long orders were pouring in.

Residual Paralysis
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WITH The publication of her book And They Shall Walk, published by Dodd Mead, Sister Kenny Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.
has plainly set forth the issues between her and what she calls "the orthodoxes" in the medical profession.
The orthodox view is that infantile paralysis is an infectious disease, the virus of which has a particular affinity for those cells in the nervous system located in the spinal cord which send fibrils to and control muscle movement. The inflammation of and around these cells sometimes puts them out of commission temporarily so that there is a temporary paralysis and sometimes completely destroys them so that there is a permanent paralysis.
Kenny Treatment
Miss Kenny found by experience that by using hot packs on the affected muscles and by manipulating and moving the limbs from the very earliest period of the disease, muscle spasm is relieved. She believes that by using this method more recoveries take place. And finally she has come to the conclusion that the disease is located in the muscle alone and that the nervous system or motor nerve cells are not diseased at all. It is unfortunate that she ever forced herself to the last conclusion. The application of the hot packs and the manipulations early in the disease are forms of physiotherapy that had probably been neglected by the regular profession and which probably do a certain amount of good. But to deny that motor nerve cells are not destroyed by the disease is sheer nonsense and I am not acquainted with any physician who believes that.
Residual Paralysis
In nearly any case of infantile paralysis there is early in the disease a wider extent of paralysis than that which finally remains. As the patient recovers he regains control over group after group of muscles no matter what the treatment. What is left permanently is known as residual paralysis. The Kenny method has no treatment for these residual paralyses and the resulting deformities, and they occur just as frequently under her treatment as under orthodox treatment.
Her statement that under her treatment 80 per cent of patients recovered while under orthodox treatment "the average percentage of recoveries was 12 per cent" is simply a misstatement. In Alberta, in 1941, Dr. R. G. Huckell reported that of 167 patients treated by orthodox methods during an epidemic 82.2 per cent recovered to the stage where they were practically normal. That is the same as the Kenny percentage of recovery and statistics from other epidemics show that this is the usual recovery rate.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT
IT WAS SILLY to want to keep the letter to open when she was alone. There wasn't any reason why she should, even though it contained an invitation. Beth was sure of that.
Andrea said, "Well! Aren't you going to open it?"
"What? Yes, oh, yes, of course." Beth ripped the end of the envelope and slipped the single sheet out. Without reading it, without thinking of what she was doing, she held it out to Andrea.
"I don't want to read your letter," Andrea said coldly. Then, curiously getting the better of her, she spoke in a more friendly tone. "You read it and then read it to me. You know I'm always interested in any news from Dennis."
"It . . . it isn't news . . . exactly," Beth said, not raising her head. "He just says he . . . he is coming to Washington. He's . . . he's going to make headquarters here. Government work."
"Is that all?"
"No," Beth put the letter back into the envelope and put it in her purse. "He says he has a date with me . . . to go to the Balalaika. That's a night club we didn't go to last time."
"That's sweet of Dennis to give you a good time. I told you you'd like him. Hadn't we better go down to dinner now?"
Beth felt as if she had been holding a firecracker in her hand, touched the punk to it and it had fizzled out. But she knew her particular firecracker and it was likely to go off at an unexpected time.
Andrea didn't say anything more about Dennis, except to ask when he was coming.
Beth said, "Friday," and that was that.
Andrea was a subdued girl that week. There were other letters from Jim, but she kept them to herself and she never said anything else about her disappointment, except the night when she came downstairs about 3 o'clock and crept into bed with Beth.
"I have to talk," she said. "I've been crying myself to sleep these last three nights. Sometimes I get scared, Beth. Suppose Jim is right?"
"What do you have to be scared about, Andy?"
"Lots of things. Suppose he . . . he got killed?"
Beth's arms tightened about the shivering girl, and her own heart quailed before the thought. "You mustn't think such morose things."

Crusaders Class Meets for Supper, Bowling, Monday

Members of the Crusaders Class of the North Street Church of Christ enjoyed as their November social a covered dish supper and bowling party on Monday evening. Rev. and Mrs. R. Byron Carver were hosts to the group for the supper. The many varied and tempting dishes and accessory viands were served buffet style from one long table, the guests seated at another large table for the supper.

Following the happy hour around the table the class went bowling at the Washington Bowling Alleys, climaxing a most enjoyable evening. Those attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Carver, Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Miss Mary Jane Hyer, Miss Marjorie Swartz, Miss Alice Davis, Miss Christine Switzer, Miss Patty Cubbage, Miss Marcia Highley, Ralph Irons, and Ned Kinzer.

NEW COAL ROW RISES TO SHARE INTEREST OF CONGRESS IN WAR PEACE

coal crisis may be hatching.

What the War Labor Board approved was not a wage increase, but an increase in earnings, justifying its approval on the basis of an increased production time of one hour a day. But the increase in working time is based in part on an assumption, and therein lies the asserted fiction.

Tax Bill Standing

There still are no visible signs from the Senate Finance Committee, of a weakening on the stand taken by some of its members that the $2,140,000,000 tax bill passed by the House represents all the new revenue the taxpayers can pay. The Committee, now holding hearings on the bill which carries only one-fifth of the $10,500,000,000 asked by the treasury, is looking around for a way to tax war wages.

Food Subsidy Feeler

The first suggestion of a compromise has been made in the Senate dispute as to whether the administration-favored food subsidies—designed to hold down retail prices—should be continued, or abolished. Senator Ellender (D-La) is the sponsor of a plan by which federal payments would be limited to $1,250,000,000 a year with continuance of subsidy payments predicated upon retention of the Little Steel Wage Increase Formula. The House has approved a bill to abolish subsidies, altogether.

Servicemen's Ballots

A group of southern Democrats sought Republican support today in an attempt to revise the servicemen's vote bill to retain state control over the balloting.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) proposed that the military forces distribute and collect ballots printed by state officials with distribution limited to servicemen qualified to vote under laws of their respective states.

Senator Eastland (D-Miss) yesterday denounced the bipartisan balloting commission plan of Senators Lucas (D-Ill) and Green (D-R) as a "carpet-bag" measure which waives all state eligibility requirements except those of age and residence in permitting uninformed personnel to cast absentee votes.

Waived, in addition to poll tax requirements of eight southern states, he said, are educational, property and other qualifications of some states.

The Democratic leadership temporarily turned back late yesterday by a 33 to 33 tie vote a proposed amendment to require presidential appointments to the proposed war ballot commission be made from lists submitted by major parties.

CONSERVE ELECTRICITY

TO CONSERVE COAL • MANPOWER • TRANSPORTATION

Ways in which you can SAVE ELECTRICITY

Turn off lights when not in use, and when leaving home or office.

Don't turn on the toaster or the iron before you are ready to use it. Turn it off when not in use.

Turn off the radio when no one is listening.

When you switch on a light, or a motor, or plug in an appliance, don't forget that every kilowatt hour of electricity you consume, consumes a pound of this vital fuel—plus the necessary labor to mine it and load it—plus the transportation equipment, which today is greatly overtaxed—and still more labor to transport it and unload it. Every pound of coal is precious. For the duration, save electricity to SAVE COAL.

In war, everything that is vital to Victory must be conserved—either voluntarily or forcibly. By saving electricity voluntarily, rationing may be avoided.

Tom Harmon, Missing in China, is Safe

By JERRY LISKA
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The rejoicing family of Army pilot Tom Harmon attended a Mass of Thanksgiving today in celebration of the former All-American football player's second deliverance this year from the dread list of men "missing in action."

Before dawn, his aged parents and a sister went to the same Catholic chapel on the University of Michigan campus where last April they had given prayerful thanks for Harmon's miraculous escape from a bomber crash in South American jungles that claimed the lives of five other crew members. This time the occasion was word that Tom was "walking out," as a friend described it in a letter home, from a similar adventure in China. He had been missing on a combat mission over Kiuikiang since October 30.

"Thank the Lord," Tom's father sputtered joyfully. "It's almost too good to believe, although mom and I never lost faith for a moment."

Mrs. Harmon's eyes were tear-filled as she smiled radiantly and accepted the news with a reverent murmur, "Thank God—again."

Lt. Gary H. Hammond of Ypsilanti had written his mother, Mrs. Charles Hammond, that "four men... were missing in a raid. One, we know for sure, is walking back and we have rumors that two more are coming also. We think that Harmon is walking out too."

The letter was dated Nov. 6.

Big Ten All-Star Football Team Dominated By Boys in Service

By DAVE HOFF
CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The most unusual Western Conference All-Star football team in history—including for the first time a freshman, a player who was performing in his fourth year of varsity competition, and another who made the team last year but representing a different school—has been selected for the Associated Press by Big Ten coaches. The conference's three powerful V-12 teams—Purdue, Michigan and Northwestern—grabbed seven places on this 1943 All-Star squad, but the "have-not" schools like Indiana, Minnesota and Ohio State took their share of glory, too.

Thus Purdue, Conference champions with Michigan, took three places, Michigan, Indiana and Northwestern two apiece, and Minnesota and Ohio State one each.

Hoernschmeyer, actually a halfback but liked so well by the coaches that many of them listed him at quarterback to make room for Graham, Butkovich and Daley in the backfield, is the first freshman ever to appear on this annual honor group because this is the first season that yearlings have been eligible for Big Ten play.

UPHEAVAL HITS API BOWLING

The Heat Treaters continued merrily on their way in front of the bowling race by beating the Engineers all three games of the match. The whitewash not only gave the Heat Treaters a firmer grip on the league lead but also bumped the Engineers down to next to last place and broke the three-team deadlock and left the Production boys in a tie for second, by virtue of their two out of three win from the Office force, which went into a tie for fourth place on its single victory.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—AP—Buying by commercial and milling interests, stimulated by announced federal flour subsidies and sizable government purchases scheduled for the week end, carried December and May wheat futures into new high ground today. Rice prices were mixed and closed weak.

Buying of wheat at first centered on the December delivery, but demand shifted to the deferred deliveries as a result of reports of a possible poor winter wheat crop in the southwest. At times the December delivery developed relative weakness due to profit taking and uncertainty over international developments.

December wheat crossed $1.65 for a new 18 year peak before profit taking struck the bulge and prices closed 3/4 to 1 1/4 cent higher than yesterday's close. December $1.64 1/4, May $1.61 1/4, and rice finished unchanged to 3/4 up. December $2.15 1/2, Oats ended the day unchanged to 3/4 higher and barley showed final gains of 3/4 to 3/8.

IRISH REMAIN AT TOP OF FOOTBALL RATING BUT PRESTIGE SLUMPS

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Notre Dame remains the top football team in the country, despite its 19 to 14 loss to Great Lakes, but its popularity took a drastic cut.

Eighty-six of 131 sports experts, voting in the final Associated Press poll of the season, marked the Irish No. 1 on their ballots. The remaining 45 voters were definite in their opinions that the loss had robbed the Frank Leahy machine of much of its glamour. Some dropped the Irish as low as seventh, in contrast to the poll of three weeks ago when Notre Dame established a record by snaring every first-place ticket.

As it was, however, the Irish finished with 1,259 points to take over the mythical national championship in succession to the 1942 Ohio State eleven.

Not only did Notre Dame's loss cost it heavily in points but it lifted the Great Lakes aggregation from 21st to sixth place and made the Iowa Pre-Flight, Irish victim No. 9 by a 14 to 13 count, a strong runner-up to the South Bend stalwarts.

The Seahawks grabbed 12 first place votes and a total of 1,028 points—only 231 less than the total compiled by Notre Dame.

The leading teams, determined on a basis of 10 points for each first place ballot, nine for second, etc., (first place votes in parenthesis):

—Spyina— On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Most of the arguing in the minor league baseball meetings concerns the attempt to give Judge W. G. Bramham the heaveho was head of the National Association and a move to change the voting setup.

However, there's another amendment coming up in the next few days that may have far reaching effects if it passed. . . that concerns "drafting" territory, and since the war was boomed, a lot of Class "B" cities to "AA" size, there are some good territories waiting to be drafted. . .

The hitch is that prices ranging from $50,000 down, in addition to the value of the park, players, etc., being taken over, are set by the national agreement. What the big minors want is an arbitration board to decide what the territory is worth—and in the case of non-operating leagues, it probably wouldn't be very much.

Observation Post

Shag Shaughnessy, International League prexy and No. 1 candidate for the National Association presidency, makes this observation that seems to explain the entire fuss between the big minors and the little ones: "In baseball, fellows who have something don't want to give it up, even if they don't deserve it."

Lobby Patrol

Connie Mack, nearly 81, shows more endurance than a lot of younger standees in the hotel lobby. Charlie Grimm can do a pretty fair job, too. . . Grimm argues: "I don't care what else you say about Lou Novikoff, he still can hit if you let him alone." . . . While its pretty well agreed that Herb Pennock is the man Bob Carpenter wants to boss the Phillies, Herb isn't due here until tomorrow. . . The American association, which proposed giving the double-A leagues ten votes, may change its sliding scale before the amendment comes up.

Revolution Is Now Brewing In Minor Baseball Leagues

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—"Billy the Kid" Southworth popped up with some pleasant words about his St. Louis Cardinals today as a shot in the arm to the major league side of the winter baseball meetings, just when it appeared the minors were going to have all the fun with a red-hot "revolution."

This minor-league rebellion was wrapped up in an organized move against the re-election of William G. Bramham as a fourth-term boss. Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International League, already was up as a "rival candidate"—sponsored by his own league.

Into this picture "Billy the Kid" stepped up with a surprisingly big smile for a guy who has lost four members of a National League championship cast to Uncle Sam since the 1943 season ended.

Bill appears somewhat proud of the fact that he doesn't have to holler for help from outside the Cardinal family. He not only is surprisingly backward about doing any trading this winter, but he can also come close to naming his lineup for the 1944 season right now.

Uncle Sam has put the finger on pitcher Alpha Brazle, outfielder Harry Walker, catcher Walker Cooper and second-sacker Lou Klein in recent days, and may yet snatch one or two others, like Mort Cooper.

But the way Southworth rattled off the replacements—"so," he shrugged, "we have a kid named George Dockins coming up from Columbus to take Brazle's place as our left-hand pitcher, and Ted Wilks from Columbus and Blix Donnelly from Rochester and Al Byerly from Sacramento to throw 'em."

Luke Sewell: "I don't know what good that Luke Appling will do in the army—he'll always be shooting to right."

The Men's API League underwent a violent upheaval that broke a three-team tie for second place and left the next-to-last team deadlocked in the position with the survivor.

The Heat Treaters had little trouble in disposing of the Engineers in spite of the "blind score" they had to take for the missing fifth team member. The first game was taken by a comfortable margin, the second was a runaway when they racked up 931 but the last tilt was a nip and tuck affair that was won by only nine pins.

HOWARD LLOYD RESIGNS RELIEF DIRECTORSHIP

Mrs. Lucille Leach Is Now
Temporary County
Relief Head

Mrs. Lucille Leach is now temporary Fayette County relief director since Howard H. Lloyd has resigned his post here, effective December 1, county commissioners said today. Lloyd was granted a leave of absence last April and Mrs. Leach has been acting director since then.

Expenditures through October of this year are $16,353.95, Mrs. Leach reports. She anticipated "around $4,000 more" will be spent during November and December. "Those are our heavy months," she said.

Besides medical aid—which eats up more of the relief bill here than any other one item—food, fuel and clothing is furnished to relief clients to the tune of 50 each month—an average number, Mrs. Leach remarks.

"We have so many medical relief cases because most of our clients are unemployable," she explained. She emphasized that the proportion of medical aid cases to other facets of the relief program fluctuates, but added that with surgical, medical and confinement cases, the medical tabulation fairly constantly totals higher than food, fuel or clothing.

As an example of one type of case she works on, Mrs. Leach told of one person who receives aid for the aged under the state program. She explained that this person had to be taken to a Columbus hospital for medical attention and that the county paid for the hospitalization.

For October, $1,157 was recorded on the relief office books as expenditures for that month. Of the total sum for each year, the State of Ohio pays half and Fayette County half.

The 1942 expenditures, estimated by the county commissioners, were "probably about $18,000—maybe a little over that."

Mrs. Leach remarked that the relief load here has not dwindled to any extent because "we have no county infirmary here." She indicated that many aged clients would otherwise be provided for by a county home if one existed. "Because we have no county home, we have no facility to take care of them and so they (medical cases, largely) must go to Columbus hospitals and we have that expense," Mrs. Leach said.

REV. WM. A. COOPER DIES IN SEDALIA

Funeral Services Will Be Held
In Logan

Rev. William A. Cooper, 76, retired Methodist minister, died suddenly at his home in Sedalia Monday night.

He had been in the ministry for many years and had resided in Sedalia for several years.

Surviving are his widow, Ellen, three sons, three daughters, three step-daughters and a step-son.

Funeral services will be held in Logan Methodist Church at Logan Thursday at 2 P. M. and burial made in the Logan Cemetery, under direction of E. T. Snyder of Mt. Sterling.

MOATS FUNERAL IS HELD MONDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Mrs. Rosa M. Moats were held Monday at 1 P. M. in the House of Prayer on Washington Avenue. Rev. Lloyd Ferguson of Circleville was in charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Henry Leach.

Mrs. E. E. Lane, Mrs. Charles Moomaw, Rev. Ray Ferguson and Mrs. Walter Pickle sang the three hymns "Rock of Ages," "Till We Meet Again" and "Going Down the Valley" to piano accompaniment of Mrs. Paul Ferguson.

The many flowers at the largely attended funeral were attended by Miss Virginia Moats, Miss Dottie Moats, Miss Georgia Moats, Miss Patty Moats, Floyd E. Moats and Tommy Kilsbun.

Pallbearers were Joseph, Cecil, John C., Lewis and Jesse Shackelford and Arnold Moats. Burial was made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery under the direction of the Kiever Funeral Home.

Ruth E. Glass against Ralph Glass is the style of the latest divorce action filed in Common Pleas Court.

The parties were married in this city March 14, 1911, and gross neglect of duty is charged by the plaintiff, who is represented by Ray R. Maddox. The parties separated Sept. 26, 1943 "when married life became intolerable" and property arrangements have been made it is stated in the petition.

HUNGRY OHIO MARINE KILLS JAP SO CREW CAN GET TO HOT SUPPER

HELLHAWKS BLAST JAPS

(Editor's Note: The following story, distributed by The Associated Press, was written by 2nd Lieut. Penn T. Kimball of New Britain, Conn., a Marine Corps Public Relations officer.)

NEW GEORGIA ISLAND—(Delayed)—The Hellhaws, Marine fighter squadron, has shot down 102 Japanese planes to become one of the leading aerial outfits in the South Pacific war zone.

The squadron has lost but eight of its own pilots in combat for a better than 12-to-one average against the Japs.

In all of the scraps, the Hellhaws were heavily outnumbered by the enemy.

Leading man in the outfit is First Lieutenant Wilbur J. Thomas, 23, El Dorado, Kansas, whose 16½ officially accredited planes make him one of the war's high-ranking aces.

Four other Marine aces, with at least five official enemy planes, won their spurs with the squadron. They include Captain Sheldon O. Hall, 24, of Rural Route 1, Ottawa, Ohio, six planes.

transport, then with five direct cannon hits left a large destroyer sinking.

The mediums with 75's aboard have been used against land installations and in forays against shipping without impairing their effectiveness at bombing, strafing, or acting as reconnaissance planes, the Army said.

A special recoil mechanism that keeps the heavy cannon from shaking their ship apart when it is fired made the installation possible. North American Aviation, Inc., developer of the B-25, conceived the idea, the Army added.

Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, who is leaving his desk as chief of the Navy's ordnance bureau to return to sea duty, said new naval weapons now in use are "fully comparable to the German radio-controlled bomb and the German acoustic homing torpedoes."

"Our new weapons can be and are kept secret except that the enemy receives full knowledge of their effects," he said.

When the Navy loses a weapon, he added, it usually sinks in the ocean where it can not be retrieved and imitated.

3 CHILDREN ORPHANED
BY AUTO CRASH IN OHIO
YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 30—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Nick Katakis of New Castle, Pa., were killed as their automobile crashed into an abandoned gasoline station on U. S. Route 422. Two children, Anna, 18, and John, 16, were injured seriously. Another daughter, Artinis, 19, and George Nikitakis, 54, suffered minor bruises.

1944 DOG TAGS TO GO ON SALE WEDNESDAY

License Fees Increased To Pay
Sheep Claims Filed
Now

The 1944 dog licenses—to go on sale Wednesday in Fayette County in the auditor's office—will cost $1.50 for males, $4.50 for females and $15 for kennel licenses.

The hike in license fees was voted by the County Commissioners Monday afternoon in session at the Court House. Justification for the increase was presented to the Commissioners by Auditor Ulric Acton, who pointed out that $1,681 in unpaid sheep claims and $50.59 in unpaid witness fees are now on file in the auditor's office. And, Acton added significantly, there is an estimated balance of $375 to pay the claims.

The increase in sheep value is also a factor in raising license fees, Commissioner Homer Miller pointed out.

Strict enforcement of the license law was promised by Commissioners Jean Nisley, Tom Parrett and Miller when they said Dog Warden Otis Bonecutter would conduct a house to house canvass through the county to see that all dogs are licensed by January 20. "We're going to insist on that canvass," the commissioners said. They also reminded dog owners that if their dogs are not licensed by January 20, a penalty of $1 must be paid as well as the regular license fee.

The 1943 license fees were $1.25, $3.75 and $10 for the three classes of tags issued. Up until September 2, $3,477.25 in license fees are on record in the auditor's office. Acton reminded the Commissioners that "a few" licenses have been issued since that date but indicated that the number is negligible. Miscellaneous income—largely from the sale of dogs for experimental purpose—totals $1,067. Bonecutter sells dogs impounded to Ohio State University for use in veterinary and medical college research as well as one or two other concerns in Columbus.

The 49 sheep claims registered so far in 1943 total $2,356.46. 1942 claims numbered 135, valued at $3,506.05. Some of the claims paid in 1943 were carried over from 1942, officials pointed out.

In 1943, 2,354 dog licenses have been issued through the auditor's office. Some of the licenses were re-issued when owners reported lost tags.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. ROSE VALENTINE

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Ella Valentine, colored, were held Monday at 2 P. M. in the First Baptist Church at Bloomingburg. Rev. Edward Gray was in charge of the services, reading a personal tribute.

Rev. S. A. Hall, of Springfield, offered prayer and Rev. James Woodfork read the scriptures. Mrs. Madge Jones of Columbus, read a memoir.

The church choir sang, "Abide With Me," "Rock of Ages" and "God Will Take Care of You." Mrs. Naomi Terry sang a solo and Mrs. Naomi Dixon was the accompanist.

There were many flowers at the largely attended services.

Pallbearers were Ernest Locklear, Sherman Ryan, Emmett Jones, Elmer Harris, Roy Wilson and Charles Peterson. Burial was made in the Bloomingburg Cemetery under direction of the Hook Funeral Home.

KILLED IN CRASH

MARIETTA, Nov. 30—(P)—Harry S. Gill, 47, was killed and Lloyd Bloomingdale of Marietta and Moore Snelling of Alexander, Ind., injured in a truck collision near here.

Sgt. Charles V. Sexton has returned to Ft. Hamilton, N. Y., after visiting his parents, Capt. and Mrs. C. V. Sexton on a 10-day furlough. Capt. C. V. Sexton has returned to his post in Cincinnati after a week's furlough here with his wife.

WHS CLUB HELPS IN WAC RECRUITING

Girls Conservation Club
Distributes Posters

Members of the Girls' Conservation Club of the high school here may not be old enough to enlist in the WACs themselves, but they are doing their part to help in the current recruiting campaign.

They distributed posters announcing the arrival of the Air WAC recruiting team here next Friday at the American Legion Hall at the request of Mrs. Ed Williams, chairman of the WAC recruiting committee here.

Besides their help in the WAC recruiting set-up, they have aided Maynard Craig in various phases of the salvage campaign here.

SURGICAL DRESSING UNIT IS REOPENED

Attendance Monday Very Poor
Instructress Indicates

Mrs. Martha Braun, instructress at the Red Cross surgical dressing unit here, is reminding all women who have been working there since it began in September, that the headquarters in Memorial Hall are open again after a lapse to await more gauze to make the dressings.

"I think that a good many of the women who had been working don't know that the unit is open again," Mrs. Braun said. She indicated attendance at the two sessions Monday was "very poor" and emphasized that gauze for the November quota of 30,000 has just arrived to be made up into two by two inch dressings.

Mrs. Braun repeated the schedule for working at the surgical dressing unit—Monday from 1 to 4 P. M. and from 7 to 10 P. M. and Tuesday through Friday from 1 to 4 P. M.

NEW HOLLANDERS TO REHABILITATE TOYS

Plans for Collection Are Now Being Made

Boy Scouts, Mayor Warren M. Arthur and Edward Kirkpatrick of New Holland today are working on preliminary plans for collecting used toys, refinishing and repairing them, and distributing them to children who might not otherwise have Christmas playthings.

Kirkpatrick, who originated the idea, has secured "undivided cooperation" of Mayor Arthur and the Boy Scouts. At present, the tentative plans will work like this:

People having toys to donate are to call the Boy Scouts, who will call for them at the homes. All donated gifts will be turned in at the fire department where residents of New Holland will volunteer to repair, repaint and check the toys. Grade schools will be checked to aid in the distribution of the toys.
